

Globalizing as World-Class Universities' Special Function or Unique Mission, 12 October 2021

00:54:23 David Mills: Please do share your questions and comments in the chat function...we would very much welcome all thoughts, wherever you are..

00:56:37 mutia Alnimrat: thank you .would you explain what do you mean by global positioning.? thanks again.

00:57:46 Akiyoshi Yonezawa: Do you have any findings how the WCUs define “research”; are they talking about the basic research, academic thought, or more on the innovation, science, technology that are linked with knowledge economy?

00:59:03 Charito Pizarro: Is there any way to specify what common global good means?

01:00:00 Charito Pizarro: Is there any way to specify what common global good means considering the diversity of types of government?

01:00:04 Anan Chen: I am wondering do you think WCUs are the future of RUs? Or you think they are developing in the two separate tracks?

01:00:47 mutia Alnimrat: thank you for answering.

01:09:20 David Mills: Any more questions please? There is still a little time..

01:11:11 CGHE Webinars: Thanks for coming today. A recording of this session will be on the CGHE site tomorrow: <https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/globalizing-as-world-class-universities-special-function-or-unique-mission/>

01:11:48 CGHE Webinars: Our next webinar will be on Thursday, 'Academic Boundaries and the Impact Agenda for Academic Research'. You can register here: <https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/academic-boundaries-and-the-impact-agenda-for-academic-research/>

01:14:42 Charito Pizarro: Hahaha, all universities becoming like Oxford, Harvard, MIT.

01:15:27 Dr Reuben Nguyo: Thank you

01:15:37 mutia Alnimrat: thank you.

01:15:38 Monika Jaiswal-Oliver: Thank you Lin

01:15:38 Ellen Wang: Thank you very much for the interesting presentation.

01:15:40 Cristina Carvalho: Thanks Lin!

01:15:42 Emily Gorlewski: thank you!

01:15:44 Monika Jaiswal-Oliver: See you thursday