

Internationalisation and global citizenship in higher education, 25 January 2022

00:26:27 CGHE Webinars: Thank you all for joining us today. Just a note that this session is being recorded and will be posted on the CGHE YouTube page.

00:27:16 VINCENT XAVIER: Thank you verymuch sir.Im Dr.J VINCENT XAVIER, from India

00:28:38 Dan: Thanks a lot for noting and I'm glad to join in this seminar.

00:36:45 Marta Kozłowska: Thank you very much, Monika - interesting findings.

00:37:08 Jo Kukuczka: Thanks for sharing your work, Monika :)

00:37:16 Renee Bowling: Thank you Monika, appreciate your model as an analytic tool

00:37:20 Gertrude Cotter: Thanks Monika very interesting

00:37:45 Marta Kozłowska: Indeed a very interesting and insightful model! Thank you for sharing 😊

00:39:09 Tasie Tao: Thank you Monika for such a brilliant presentation 🙌

00:39:22 Xiaoyu Wang: Thanks Monika, it is a very interesting project. My project is about citizenship education in England and China, a comparative study. Hence, I am really interesting in how you frame your conceptual framework. Thanks! And Good luck!

00:40:01 Monika Jaiswal-Oliver: Thank you, Monika. Very insightful study

00:40:48 Herminia Alonso: Thank you very much Monika. Very interesting model.

00:40:55 VINCENT XAVIER: Than you Monika Clear vision

00:41:06 William F Machaca Zamalloa: Thank you, Monika. Indeed, it is a truly insightful study.

00:42:06 Monika Kraska: Thank you all for your comments

00:42:42 Simon Marginson: Colleagues it is time for you to put forward your questions and statements for our speakers - use the Chat to do this! we will select the Q&A participants on the basis of what's coming forward in the Chat.

00:43:47 Alison Leslie: Really interesting presentation Monika. Q: why these countries and institutions for your case studies?

00:44:44 Victor Karunan: Question for Monika and Simon: Can you both define what you mean by "global citizenship"? Are there differences and often conflictive definitions being used - based on where you are and what is your frame of reference or theoretical framework?

00:45:58 Vickie Crockett: For Monika: Is this model designed to drive university curriculum or instructional practices to help them move to a more desired outcome? (from neoliberal to liberal or critical for example?) Are there ramifications for how students might then choose their institutions of higher learning based on these lenses?

00:50:05 Vickie Crockett: For Simon: How can we create more globally inclusive programming that incorporates a broader range of practices (such as those in regions like Brazil, as Monika pointed out) and does not rely so heavily on the practices and structures of the global north? How can the practices of the global south better inform the practices of the global north?

00:51:30 Maria-Ligia Barbosa: For Monika: PUC Rio is one of the best universities in Brazil. So, a very especial case. Did you investigate, in your case studies, the impacts of policies for internationalization issued by central governments?

00:51:32 Kathrin Herres: In addition to the question about the definition of global citizenship, I would be interested in the differentiation from the definition of IHES.

00:51:36 Kester Muller: Hi everyone. If you are interested in research on global citizenship and related topics, you might want to have a look at the work of the Academic Network on Global Education & Learning - a world forum for academics and researchers in global education. <https://angel-network.net/>

00:51:40 Jo Kukuczka: Thank you, Simon, you got me thinking a lot

00:52:37 Jo Kukuczka: Thanks for sharing this link @Kester

00:52:45 Vickie Crockett: Powerful points. Monika and Simon! Thank you both so much for sharing!

00:52:55 VINCENT XAVIER: Sir is there possibility to get attendance certificate.please reply

00:53:05 Mousumi Mukherjee: Thank you Simon Eten!

00:53:17 walburga katharina freitag: Thank you Simon for your interesting talk!! Very important!

00:53:17 VINCENT XAVIER: Thank you simon

00:53:18 Mousumi Mukherjee: Thank you, Monika!

00:53:24 William F Machaca Zamalloa: Thank you, Simon! Very interesting approach.

00:53:33 Fernanda Bowler: Very interesting presentation, Simon!

00:53:35 Kathryn Abell: Thank you to both, very interesting!

00:53:55 Maria-Ligia Barbosa: Thank you, Simon. Could you share your presentation, please?

00:55:04 CGHE Webinars: The slides from both presentations will be posted on the CGHE site this afternoon.

00:55:35 Marta Kozłowska: Thank you Simon - a great presentation. In particular: contextualisation ("glocal internationalisation")

00:57:08 Charito Pizarro: Thanks a lot for sharing your research findings, Simon and Monika.

00:58:05 Marta Kozłowska: Indeed - it would be great to involve all stakeholders, naturally students as well. Possibly probing into their perspectives and perceptions of what has been achieved.

00:58:06 Xiaoyu Wang: delineate

00:58:12 CRISTINA DE CARVALHO: Thanks Monika and Simon for very interesting presentations!

00:58:31 Percy Hung: Thanks a lot for sharing your research studies, Simon and Monika.

00:58:34 Gertrude Cotter: If you look at Monika's model and the spectrum from neoliberal to critical, where does the concept of Ubuntu 'fit' in there? Or does it? Does not have to 'fit in', am just wondering where we can bring these together.

00:59:30 Gertrude Cotter: GC is very hard to define. Also Global Citizenship Education is not the same as GC.

00:59:31 Jo Kukuczka: Global + local = glocal is making more sense by the minute :)

01:00:37 Vickie Crockett: @Jo Kukuczka I hear you! 😊

01:01:29 Jo Kukuczka: :)

01:06:01 Gertrude Cotter: Monika, I missed the start of your talk, apologies, how does your model differ from Oxley and Morley's typography?

01:08:18 CGHE Webinars: Thank you for joining us today. A recording of this session will be on the CGHE site tomorrow morning: <https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/internationalisation-and-global-citizenship-in-higher-education/>
