

Cosmopolitan agency and meaningful intercultural interactions between international and domestic students: An ecological conceptualisation, 8 February 2022

00:28:31 C Sanger: CA seems to be happening informally, outside the classroom.

00:42:33 Simon Marginson: It's time to start preparing your questions and statements for Kazuhiro - please type them into the Chat. We want to hear your doubts, assertions, hopes and insights!

00:44:17 Gertrude Cotter: Questions:
(1) why did Kazuhiro choose these two universities in particular?
(2) does Kazuhiro have any observations on gender aspects of his findings?
(3) what were these students studying? EG were they in workplacements? Were they classroom-based only?

00:46:03 Emily Gorlewski: What literature did you consult for your method of determining "degrees of internationalization"? How important was this to your study?

00:46:37 Ronald Barnett: 2 Qs:

00:47:06 Gertrude Cotter: also what level of preparation is there for domestic and international students?

00:48:11 Soyoung Lee: Thank you so much for this interesting presentation. I've got two questions - if time allows.

First, I'm wondering if you are suggesting: reflexivity and agency are shaped by the environment and past? Are the affordances and capitals resources for limitations (barriers) for agency? My second question is about the power relation and privilege: were there any differences in power relations between domestic and international students when students adopt critical and amicable agency?

00:50:48 Hasmi yanti: A great presentation. I have a question did this observation include of students's religion too, especially for international students?

00:51:38 Mika Tamura: It is not a question, but I thought it is a good time to evaluate what impact Global 30 initiative gave to the internationalization of higher education in Japan.

00:58:44 Simon Marginson: Still scope for more questions

00:59:20 Gertrude Cotter: the interruption might be that someone has their microphone on?

00:59:29 Lori Lee Wallace: Hahaha - demented chipmunk

01:08:59 CGHE Webinars: Thank you for joining us today. A recording of this session will be on the CGHE site tomorrow morning:
<https://www.researchcghe.org/events/cghe-seminar/cosmopolitan-agency-and-meaningful-intercultural-interactions-between-international-and-domestic-students-an-ecological-conceptualisation/>

01:09:19 Trif Victorița: Thank you!

01:09:33 Marta Kozłowska: Thank you!

01:09:45 Gertrude Cotter: It is a bit worrying that English is seen as a common language in Japan or any other country that is not English speaking? Or did I misunderstand that? I have to go shortly but just a comment

01:09:53 CGHE Webinars: Our next webinar, 'Higher education as student self-formation', will be from Simon and is on Thursday. You can register here:

01:10:08 Thushari Welikala: Great presentation! This is just a comment. The cosmopolitan capital is relevant within your study but in the meantime, implies a linear, colonial view of 'interculturality', highlighting those different nationalities necessarily reflect different cultures and hence interaction between different students from different country contexts can lead to 'intercultural interactions'. Cultures within this global world are already 'inter'. Perhaps, we now need to re-conceptualise the meaning of interculturality within international higher education.

01:13:00 Gertrude Cotter: I didn't mean here in this seminar!

01:13:07 Gertrude Cotter: I meant in the universities

01:13:21 Gertrude Cotter: have to go sorry I have a meeting but that was great Kazuhiro thanks

01:13:43 Marta Kozłowska: CARA has got some experience organising that - multilingual workshops & webinars have worked brilliantly so far!

01:15:24 Lori Lee Wallace: Inspiring presentation, Kazuhiro! Thank you for hosting another fantastic webinar, Simon!

01:15:48 Juliana Brunello: Thank you for the presentation!

01:16:37 Soyoung Lee: Thank you so much Kazuhiro!

01:16:54 Claire Hao: Thank you so much for this presentation!

01:17:08 Marta Kozłowska: A great piece of work - thank you Kazuhiro!

01:17:10 YUSUF OLDAC:Thank you for the presentation!

01:17:13 mutia Alnimrat: Thank you

01:17:16 Daian Huang: Thank you for this presentation!

01:17:23 Monika Jaiswal-Oliver: Thank you for the presentation

01:17:27 Mika Tamura: Thank you for your talks!
